

“student hit by car”

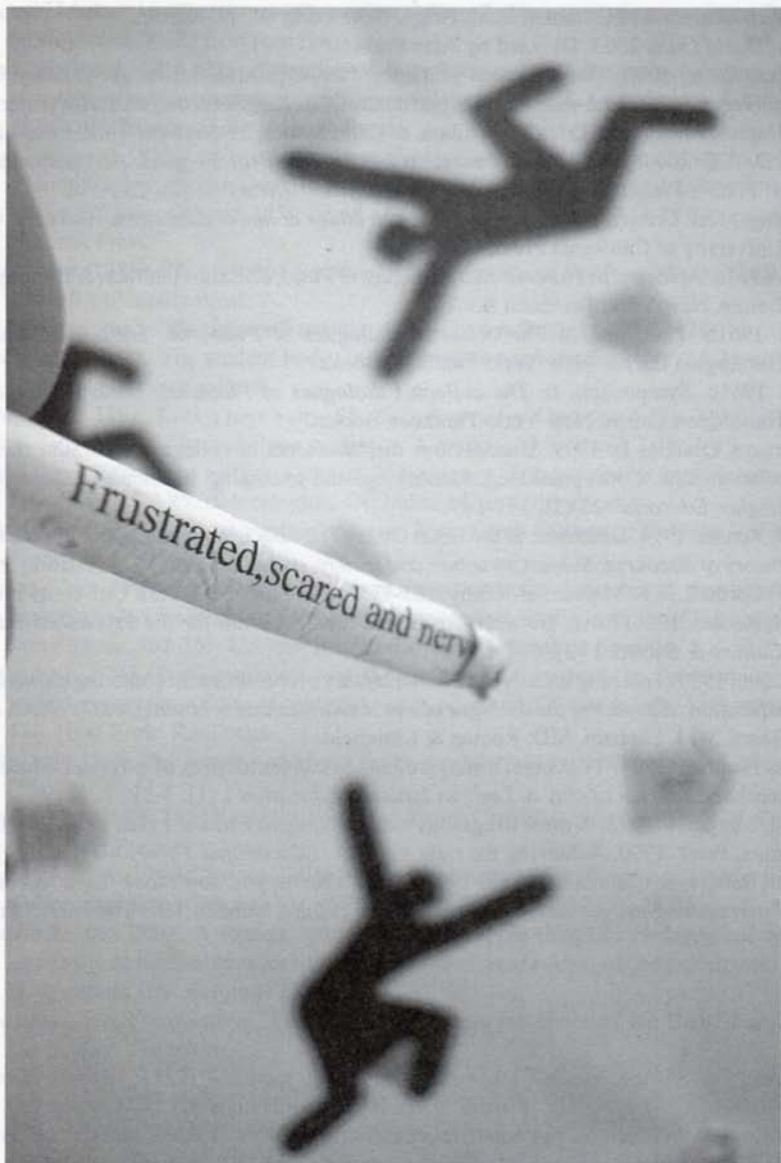

Craig Campbell

This photograph is of a world that is both immediate and ungraspable. It is meant to proceed where words seem to fail.

“a little prayer”
Craig Campbell

The text for these cigarettes derives from an internet site where people post prayer requests. The practice of constructing cigarettes, burning them, and photographing them constitutes my own approach to mediating seemingly incomprehensible events.

"frustrated, sacred, and nervous"

Craig Campbell

Falling and failing. While the body falls the smoke rises and acts as an intermediary between immanent and transcendent forces.