

This is an Invitation
to the Opening Reception & Shindig for

Ethnographic Terminalia

December 4, 2009 from 7:30 -10.00pm

Crane Arts &
1400 N.American Street
Philadelphia, PA

Ethnographic Terminalia is a group exhibition of installation works showing at Crane Arts in Philadelphia. The show brings together ethnographers, artists, and artist-ethnographers working at the edges of disciplinary genres for an exploration of new terrains in the articulation of art and anthropology.

*Entry is free.
Drinks will be served.*

www.metafactory.ca/terminalia

Directions: From Girard Avenue, turn North onto 3rd Street. Turn right at the first stop sign. Turn Left at American Street. Crane Arts will be the large wedge-shaped building located one block North at the corner of Master and American Streets.

By Subway: Take the Market-Frankford line to the Girard Avenue exit. Walk 6 blocks West on Girard Ave. Turn Right on 2nd Street and walk 2 blocks North. Turn left on Master and walk 2 blocks West to American Street. The Crane Arts building will be ahead and to your right (there is signage at the very top of the building).